

RENO AS A DISTRIBUTING CENTRE.

In his speech at the Court House a few evenings ago Congressman Newlands pointed out the importance of making Reno a distributing center. He advised that a competent committee be appointed to consult with the railroad people on the subject and expressed the hope that continuous pressure, without heat or rancor, would eventually produce an impression, for, in his opinion, it is as much in the interest of the railroad people as of the citizens of Reno to build up this State.

A plain statement of facts relative to the transportation question in Nevada certainly could not be considered heated or rancorous by the railroad company. Under existing regulations, unless merchants misrepresent matters, and as proof that they do not they exhibit freight receipts to substantiate their assertions, a Nevada merchant pays nearly three times as much for a carload of freight from points east of the Missouri river as a Sacramento merchant has to pay for a similar carload taken through Nevada and over the Sierra Nevada. That is a reason, and a very convincing one too, why goods purchased at the factories in the East cannot be sold as cheap in Nevada as in San Francisco or Sacramento, on the west side of the Sierra Nevada, though Nevada is nearer the factory and the goods sold in Sacramento or San Francisco are taken through Nevada. To make Reno a distributing center, as suggested by Mr. Newlands, it is only necessary for the railroad company to give the Reno merchant an equal show with the California merchant. Nevadaans as a general rule believe in fair play. They do not ask the railroad people to discriminate in their favor against San Francisco. They do not ask for a lower rate than is given San Francisco on goods from the East because of the shorter haul, but they cannot be rightfully charged with being heated or rancorous in imploring the railroad people to charge them no more for leaving their freight at Elko, Winnemucca or Reno than they would charge for hauling the same freight through the State and over the mountains to tide water on the other side.

It is greatly to be hoped that the committee, which Mr. Newlands suggested should be appointed by the people of Reno, will take the trouble to ascertain whether it be a fact that freight rates from the East to Nevada are about three times as high as they are to tide water, and, if so, call the attention of the railroad people to such unjust discrimination. Surely the pressure need not be great nor contentious to get the railroad people to right such a great wrong. It is manifestly so unjust to compel the Nevada merchant to pay nearly three times as much for a carload of freight left in Nevada as it would cost him to have the same freight in the same car hauled two or three hundred miles further west over high mountains, that if the attention of the railroad people is directed to the matter they will at once adopt a new and more equitable schedule of rates for Nevada.

The committee should lose no time in ascertaining the facts regarding freight rates. The matter is of the greatest importance to Nevada and the railroad people may be perfectly willing to deal fairly with this State if they are advised of the manner in which their schedules discriminate against it.

The report comes from Morgan, Texas, that Blanthier, who committed suicide in the jail at that place, made a written confession that he had murdered Minnie Williams and Blanche Lamont in San Francisco. Blanthier was arrested for the murder of Mrs. Langfeldt and while in jail at Meridian, Texas, awaiting the arrival of the San Francisco officers, made the confession and put it in the pocket of a farmer named Pitts, who was serving a short sentence. Pitts says he did not know of the confession until a day or two ago when he put his hand through a hole in the coat lining and pulled out the letter. The San Francisco authorities take no stock in the alleged confession. The police are convinced that Darrant is the man who murdered Blanche Lamont and Minnie Williams.

COUNT GOLOUCHOFF, the Austro-Hungarian Minister of Foreign Affairs, in his annual address to the Austrian and Hungarian delegates, appeals to all Europe to take advantage of the present era of peace and join closely for the vigorous defense of conditions common to European countries as against the "crushing competition of trans-Atlantic nations." Said he: "We must fight shoulder to shoulder against a common danger, and arm ourselves for the struggle with the means at our disposal. European nations must close ranks in order to successfully defend their existence."

A DISPATCH from Rome confirms the report that the powers have decided to blockade Constantinople if Turkey refuses to withdraw her troops from the Island of Crete and to accept a European for Governor of the island. The Turk had such an easy conquest in Greece, because the powers wanted him to, that he imagines he is a match for all Europe. If he discovers that the powers are determined to blockade his capital it may bring him to the realization of the fact that he would have been driven out of Europe long ago by Russia were it not for western Europe.

Taken for a Deer and Shot Dead.

A. J. Sage, a well-known Idaho rancher living near Sand Point, was shot and instantly killed a few days ago while hunting. An old acquaintance named John Snyder, who went out with him hunting, and who became separated from him for a short time, seeing what he supposed to be a deer moving among the trees, fired at it, and upon reaching the spot, was horrified to find that he had shot his friend dead.

A HARVEST OF HUMAN HAIR.

Millions of Pounds Every Year Get Tangled Up In Commerce.

Perhaps there is no staple article about which less is known by the average person than human hair as an article of commerce. It will doubtless surprise many when it is stated that the dealers in human hair goods do not depend on chance clippings here and there, but that there is a regular hair harvest that can always be relied upon. It is estimated that over 12,000,000 pounds of human hair are used annually in the civilized world for adorning the heads of women. In New York city alone over four tons of this class of goods are imported yearly.

"Not a little of the hair used in this country," said a New York dealer to the writer, "comes from the heads of American women, and it is fully as fine in shade and texture as the imported article. We had a big harvest during the craze that the fair sex had not long ago for having their hair cut short. Many thousands of women who then had their locks sheared have since bitterly regretted it, as in many instances their hair has grown so slowly that they have been compelled to wear a wig or a switch since the fashion changed. After the majority of women reach the age of 30 the hair seems to partially lose its vigor, and if cut it will not grow long again."

"Two-thirds of the ladies nowadays use false hair more or less. The decree of fashion, or the desire to conceal a defect or heighten a charm, is the reason of course. One woman, for instance, has a high forehead and wishes to reduce it in appearance. Another has worn off the front hair by continued frizzing and would like to conceal the fact. Both make use of a front or top piece, with a 'choice of many styles."

"Ladies' wigs cost from $20 to $200; half wigs, top pieces and switches from $10 to $50, according to quality."

"The largest supply of hair comes from Switzerland, Germany and the French provinces. There is a human hair market in Merlan, in the department of the lower Pyrenees, held every Friday. Hundreds of hair traders walk up and down the one street of the village, their shears dangling from their belts, and inspect the braids which the peasant girls, standing on the steps of the houses, let down for inspection. If a bargain is struck, the hair is cut and the money paid on the spot, the price varying from 60 cents to $5 in our money."

"A woman's hair may grow to the length of 6 feet, and I know a lady who has been offered and refused $500 for her crown of glory, which is over 6 feet long. A single female hair will bear up a weight of four ounces without breaking, but the hair thus heavily weighted must be dark brown, for blond hair breaks under a strain of 2 1/2 ounces. There are some 2,000 importers, manufacturers and dealers in human hair in the United States.—Washington Star

It's Got Him.

"An Episcopal clergyman of Grand Rapids who belongs to the order of the Elks," says a member of that order, "attended a meeting the other evening. The chairman, noticing his presence, said: 'I see our Rev. Brother among us this evening. As this is such an unusual occurrence, I think he will have to be assessed $5.' The rector put his hand into his waistcoat pocket, and, marching up to the desk, put down his little V and made a nice little speech in which he told how glad he was to be with his brother Elks and ended by inviting them to come and hear him preach the next Sunday evening. Some one moved that the Elks accept the invitation and go in a body to their brother's church, which was unanimously carried. The next Sunday evening the front pews of the church were filled with Elks, and when the Rev. Mr. ascended his pulpit he said, 'I am delighted to see so many of my brother Elks here this evening, but as it is such an unusual occurrence with the most of them I think they should each be assessed $1. Let your light so shine,' etc. The way the silver dollars rattled on that plate was a caution. The contribution was much heavier than usual, and the Elks voted their reverend brother all right."—New York Tribune.

OLD BARBERS ARE SCARCE.

After Reaching 40 They Usually Retire or Enter Another Occupation.

"Did you ever notice," said a veteran tonsorial artist, who had shaved New Haveners since 1873, to a New Haven Register man, "that you only see a few old barbers?"

"Why is it?"

"There are a good many reasons," answered the veteran knight of the blade. "I suppose the chief one is that a barber's hand becomes unsteady after he gets to be about 40 years old and he has to give up. A good many barbers drink hard, and that makes their nerves and hands unfit for service, and they retire before they cut their customers' throats. Still, I will say that in all my experience of 37 years I never saw a man badly cut by a barber, not even by an accident for which the barber was not responsible."

"What becomes of the barbers after they retire?"

"Oh, some of them go to the poorhouse," he replied, with a twinkle in his eye, "and some of them, who have saved their wages, buy little places and live on them, perhaps running a farm. Some of them, of course, go into other business, perhaps bookselling or else become insurance agents. I have heard of barbers who gave up the business and became butchers. This isn't such a wide difference from their former business (what are you laughing at?) as it might seem. No, I don't mean that they learn to carve people or even to skin them in the barber business, but they learn how to handle a blade skillfully and they make first class meat cutters."

THE MASQUERADE.
Hose Company No. 6 Excel All Former Efforts
The members of Hose Company No. 6 fulfilled all of their promises of an enjoyable evening at their masquerade ball on Thanksgiving night. The music, under the direction and leadership of Professor Wolf, was especially fine and complimented accordingly. Charles Nash, as prompter, gave eminent satisfaction, and the floor, under the experienced direction of Chief Hodgkinson, assisted by members of the hose company, was ably managed.
The people of Reno showed their appreciation of the boys' good work in times past by giving them a big turn out of spectators as well as a large number of maskers to help out the financial and entertainment part of the occasion.
The boys were especially careful in providing chairs for the spectators and assisting the maskers in every possible manner. It is estimated that over three hundred spectators were present, and the list of maskers numbered one hundred and fifteen.
It was the intention to publish the names and characters represented of those in costume, but lack of space forbids.
There were a number of handsome costumes and various comical and original characters. Of the latter Gus Koppe's Calendar Clock Safe was very good, Mrs. Cora Peak's Mrs. Geise was true to life, and Charlie Ferrell's one-legged hobo was excellent, Mrs. C. E. Bird's original portrayal of the Reno water nuisance attracted special attention and she carried off first honors in originality. She was dressed in a dark, grumpy dress, sprinkled over with dead leaves of various kinds and on her head she wore a great mat of leaves and sticks. Across her shoulders she carried a piece of 6-inch pipe stuffed full of dry leaves, and hanging from her belt were pieces of tubing representing various sizes of pipe filled with leaves. The character was not only original, but so appropriate to the present conditions of the water service that Mrs. Bird was highly praised for her originality.
The groups were a Chinese band, The Reno Brewing Company and a party of tennis players, ladies and gentlemen. The Chinese band was an excellent representation, and the music rendered showed that the boys had received instructions from a Chinese musical professor.
THE PRIZES.
Mr. Fred Giob and Mr. Sol Levy, Flo Layton, Mrs. Geo. Hymers and Mrs. Geo. Humphrey were chosen as the Committee on Awards, and the several prizes were awarded as follows:

The prizes were all handsome and appropriate and gave general satisfaction to those who had won them.
The prize for spectators was drawn by ticket 213, held by Mr. John Bird of Wells, Fargo & Co.
The costumes were furnished by H. Anderson of San Francisco and they were fresh, new and of a splendid variety. Mr. Anderson was very reasonable in his charges, and endeavored as far as it was possible, to help the boys out in making a success of their ball. The fancy costumes furnished took prizes in every instance, and where an applicant was in doubt as to what would best suit as to character, Mr. Anderson was ready to advise and assist in naming something that would suit their size and figure or other special peculiarities. He is a very pleasant gentleman to deal with, and made many friends during his stay in Reno.
A Shooting at Gardnerville.
Harry Anderson, a well-known teamster from Carson to points in Carson Valley, was shot yesterday morning at Gardnerville by a worthless character known by the name of Adam Uber. The shooting occurred at the conclusion of a dance given at Gardnerville. Anderson called up a number of persons to take a drink and Uber, who was intoxicated, crowded up and demanded that he be treated also. Anderson pushed him back from the bar and Uber fell to the floor. He arose and again crowded in among the party and Anderson pushed him away and he again fell to the floor. This time he did not try to arise, but pulled a pistol and fired at Anderson, the bullet going through his breast. Anderson died about two hours after being shot.
Uber was arrested and taken to the Goona jail. The murderer has been making a living by selling whisky to Indians and has been cunning enough to avoid being caught.
The people are very much aroused and it was thought last evening that Uber would be lynched.

A Thanksgiving Dinner.
The Reno Dramatic Club held a "high jinks" at the residence of Prof. and Mrs. N. E. Wilson Thursday. The occasion was a grand Thanksgiving dinner with turkey, cranberry sauce and embellishments galore. A handsome souvenir menu was laid at the plate of each guest, mounted and illuminated with many of the features known to art. The various courses were presented in quotations from dramatic authors or lines from standard plays. The details of the dinner were carried out after the manner of true Bohemians and the affair was one long to be remembered by all who were present.
This organization is now one of the established societies of Reno and will on the 3d of December present the thrilling drama of the "Black Flag" with all of its wonderful stage effects. No one should miss this play. The seats are now on sale.
Take in the Football Game To-day.
The Berkeley football team will arrive this morning and will be received by the University of Nevada boys. This afternoon the two teams will contest the honors and it will be Nevada or California, but which ever wins, the best of feeling will prevail. People are coming from Virginia, Carson, Wadsworth and other towns.
There will be a "hot time" on the campus. Choose your favorite and display your colors and give the boys your moral as well as financial support, for they are endeavoring to have Nevada recognized in the athletic world.
The game will be called at about 2 o'clock and it will be a contest from start to finish.

The Minstrels To-Night.
The University Minstrels will give a choice entertainment this evening at the Opera House, and it may be depended upon that the program will overflow with instrumental and vocal music, with humor and sentimentality, which will cater to the tastes of all. There will be a minstrel first part, an olio of specialties and a grand finale that will show the histrionic ability of the boys.
Remember the entertainment is given to help the boys out on the expenses of bringing the California team to Reno for the great football contest that takes place on the University grounds to-day. Reno is benefited indirectly for there are sure to be many visitors here from neighboring towns.

District Court.
The case of J. J. Linn vs. Washoe county was before the District Court yesterday. This is the case arising from a rejection by the Board of Commissioners of the claims of Judge Linn and Constable McNeilly of Reno and Judge Hummel and Constable Pollock of Wadsworth for last month. The claims were assigned to Judge Linn and he immediately commenced suit. The case was submitted yesterday and taken under advisement.

LET "WIFEY" SHOP FOR YOU
She Always Has a Sharper Nose For Real Bargains.
The sign which caught Mrs. Dawson's eye read: "Suits $20. Positively the Last Week. Regular Price $30."
Mrs. Dawson had the womanly love for a bargain. She had often spent 10 cents' car fare to secure some lovely treasure that was marked down from $1 to 95 cents just for that day. She was more than provoked that Dawson, who was with her, did not grow enthusiastic.
"You know you need a suit," said Mrs. Dawson. "Why not order it now and save $10."
Dawson was certain the suits would be as cheap next week, but his wife refused to move on and dragged the helpless man into the store. The polite clerk assured them that it was the bargain of the century and that this week was positively the last.
With mental protests, but with outward calm, Dawson, like clay in the hands of the potter, allowed himself to be measured. Then he left a deposit. He called in four days and took the suit away.
"There," exclaimed Mrs. Dawson, in triumph, when her husband appeared arrayed in his new suit, "you never had a better fit nor a more becoming pattern. Just think how much money your wife saved for you by being on the lookout for a bargain!"
Mr. Dawson preserved a dignified silence and waited patiently for his better half to get her hat on straight preparatory to accompanying him to the city.
Mrs. Dawson awaited with impatience the passing of the store where she had saved money for her husband. She wanted to call his attention to the fact again that he might remain properly thankful.
With all the faith of a woman Mrs. Dawson was convinced that the salesman was telling the truth when he assured her it was the last week of the $20 sale.
She looked for the window, and her faith was rewarded. It had been the last week. The sign now read, "Any Suit In This Window $15."—Chicago Record.

The Basques.
The Basques, or Euskaldunak, as they call themselves, on account of the primitive character of their institutions, but more particularly because of the archaic features of their language, have long attracted the attention of ethnologists. Few writers on European travel have been able to keep their hands off this interesting people. Owing to the difficulty of obtaining information from the original Basque sources a wide range of speculation has been offered for cultivation. Interest for a long time mainly centered in the language, the physical characteristics were largely neglected. The last ten years have, however, witnessed a remarkable change in this respect. A series of brilliant investigations has been offered to science, based almost entirely upon the study of the living population. As a consequence this people has within a decade emerged from the hazy domain of romance into the clear light of scientific knowledge. Much yet remains to be accomplished, but enough is definitely known to warrant many conclusions both as to their physical origin and ethnic affinities.—"The Racial Geography of Europe" in Popular Science Monthly.

Butler's Spoon.
General Robertson tells a story of the late General Benjamin F. Butler which is new to me, and as the old hero himself told it to General Robertson it may be new to you as well. It happened one time when General Butler was in Portland. A great reception had been arranged in his honor, and the largest hall in town was engaged to hold it. The place was lavishly decorated, and one white muslin banner especially attracted the general's attention. On it was painted in large black letters: "General Benjamin F. Butler, the hero of Five Forks."
And beneath the big letters somebody had written:
"And goodness only knows how many spoons."—Washington Post.

Father—Have you got a terribly slow horse?

Father—Is he a regular snail?
Stable Keeper—Aye, aye.
Father—Have him round to my door at 10 o'clock tonight. One of my daughters is going to elope, and I've got to make a show of catching her.—London Fun.

Football Game at Carson.
The High School eleven visited Carson yesterday to contest the honors with the High School football team of that city. All of Carson turned out and the boys played their best. Judges of the game who were present say that it was a lively play from beginning to end. The Reno boys carried off the palm, the score standing 72 for Reno, Carson 0.
